ABOUT

30TH INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR

The principle of the Common Heritage of Mankind (CHM) is a cornerstone of international law, emphasizing that certain global commons such as the deep seabed, outer space, and cultural heritage belong to all humanity collectively, beyond the sovereignty of individual states. Rooted in the ideals of equity, shared responsibility, and intergenerational justice, the principle continues to evolve in response to emerging global challenges. Contemporary debates focus on issues such as equitable benefit-sharing, technological advancements, environmental sustainability, and the role of developing nations in accessing and utilizing these resources. Legal frameworks, including international treaties and conventions, are being examined and reinterpreted to ensure that the CHM principle remains relevant in addressing pressing global concerns while fostering cooperation among states.
